

Volume 28, Issue 39Conference Announcement*NSF/NBER/CEME Decentralization Conference

Location : Paris, France

Organizers : Jean-Marc Bonnisseau, Hubert Kempf, Frank H. Page, Jr.

Major Topics : externalities, contracting and mechanism design, networks

Conference Dates : 4/6/2006 to 4/6/2006

Submission Deadline : 1/15/2006

Send Submissions To : UA-Paris1@decentralization06.com

Sponsoring Organizations : NSF, NBER, C&BA/EFLS University of Alabama, Université Paris 1 Panthéon Sorbonne

For further information contact : Frank Page, University of Alabama, fpage@cba.ua.edu

Web Page : <http://www.decentralization06.com>

Decentralization Conference 2006 Announcement and Call for Papers NSF/NBER/CEME Decentralization Conference, Spring 2006 will be held April 6, 7, and 8 at the Université Paris 1 Panthéon Sorbonne Sponsored by NSF, NBER, C&BA EFLS University of Alabama, and Université Paris 1 Panthéon Sorbonne. The Conference organizers are Jean-Marc Bonnisseau (CERMSEM), Hubert Kempf (EUREQua), Frank H. Page, Jr. (EFLS). This will be the first time in its 35 history that the Conference will be held outside the US. For additional information on the Conference, including past programs and historical notes, visit <http://www.hss.caltech.edu/~jacksonm/Decentralization.html> In due course, detailed and d information concerning registration, accommodations, and travel for the Spring 06 Conference will be made available at <http://www.decentralization06.com> Submissions and the Program: In addition to traditional topics (including mechanism design and implementation, resource allocation, matching, team theory, organization of the firm, communication, computation, processing of information, ...) submissions of papers related to externalities, contracting, and networks are especially encouraged. The deadline for submissions is January 15, 2006. While extended abstracts are acceptable, full papers are encouraged if available. To submit a paper, please email it as a pdf attachment to: UA-Paris1@decentralization06.com The program will be announced by February 15, 2006 at <http://www.decentralization06.com>